

Question (1)

Describe major type of Construction Management ?

Ans:- Construction Management :-

Construction management is a Professional ~~subject~~ Subject service. that provide a project owner with effective management of the projects. Subdue cost, quantity, quality, safety, scope and function.

Types of Construction Management :-

These are four major types of construction project.

• Residential Building :-

The first type of construction is residential housing construction. which involve building, repairing, and remodeling of structure for the purpose of housing people. It includes apartment, townhomes, nursing homes etc.

(2)

• Institutional & Commercial building:-

This type of construction encompasses project school sport areas, shopping center, hospital, stadium, retail, stores, and skyscrapers like the residential housing, construction.

Institutional and commercial building involve both putting up to new structure, repairs and maintenance of existing structure.

• Specialized industrial construction:-

The third type of construction is specialized industrial construction which entails building structure that require a high level of specialization as well as technical skills in planning construction & design. typically this type of construction is carried out industrial cooperation.

4) Infra-structure and heavy construction:-

The last type of construction is Infra-structure & heavy construction which encompasses building and up grading and railways communication and roads Railway to the surrounding of city or existing building this type of construction usually done due to the public interest and is often executed by government.

Question (2)

Project life Cycle :-

The Project manager and team have one shared goal to carry out the work of the Project for the purpose of meeting the Projects objective. every Project has a beginning middle period and an ~~ending~~ (either successful or unsuccessful).

A standard Project typically has the following four phases - which is describe in picture.

