Q No.1 What are the effects of urbanization on Peshawar citizens land and environment is development good or bad criticize?

Anwar: as urbanization has both positive and negative impacts, you might feel that you can't say that it is totally good or bad but that mixed impact and are both good or bad. Urbanization is related to the planning, planning is the first thing important to the urbanization and development. For the best planning in center of the city commercial area is exist and for the residential area planning is specific means who make the right use of land for the right purpose. For urbanization when your planning is not good then it effected your environment. You must remember one thing that the citizens do not suffer any graveness when they are traveling. The roots are not blocked and also according to the planning you can do urbanization and urbanization will be a good development when you get good planes otherwise it is bad.
