In Greek it is called polytheism; polytheism is the antonym of "monotheism". Which means believing in the other the one God while monotheism means believing in one and only God. In Islamic religion it has been stressed on too much. The Muslims are strictly advised to not make sharers or partners with the Omni potent Allah in worshiping, in his existence corbeling, and in his implication of his attributes.

If those who made sharers or partners of the Omni potent Allah, they are called "Mushrik" in other words "Mushrik" is a terminology in Islam which refers to the person who makes sharers or partners with the Omni potent in his existence or being in worshiping or prayers or in the implication of his attributions.
