Hidayat : Asslam o alaikum

Yousaf: Walekum asalam

Hidayat : How are doiong my friend.

Yousaf: I am so fine, thanks. How about you ?

Hidayat : I am also so fine. Thank you.

Yousaf : I heard that you were so busy in your cousin's wedding. When was your cousin wedding?

Hidayat : Yeah, I was so busy in my cousin wedding. My cousin's marriage came off in the last week of May. I had been especially invited on the occasion. So I reached my uncle's house full two days before the marriage-day.

Yousaf : Okay, how was the preparation for the marriage?

Hidayat : Preparations for the marriage were in full swing. Lots of things had been purchased and the rest were to be purchased on that very day. My uncle was very glad to see me. He took me with him for the purchases that day.

Yousaf : Umm, good. Did you buy something and when did you arrive at home?

Hidayat : Yes, We bought a number of things as per list he had prepared. It was late in the evening when we arrived home with a cart-load of things. I was very tired. So I took the permission of my uncle and went to bed I got up early next morning and lent my uncle a helping hand. By nightfall it was felt that the preparations were all complete. Next day was the wedding day. The marriage party was to arrive at four in the afternoon. The reception of the marriage party was scheduled at 8 P.M.

Yousaf : What did you do else ?

Hidayat : It was a day of hectic activity. A big canopy was set up for the reception of the marriage-party. It was tastefully decorated with paper buntings. A big-gate was got ready.

Yousaf : That's great! What did you arrange for dinner and where ?

Hidayat : Special arrangements were made for dinner in the Moon Hall. Confectioners set to work preparing nice dishes to be served to the marriage party.

Yousaf : Did you beautify the house?

Hidayat : Yes, The front of the house was beautifully fitted with electric bulbs. Everyone was busy. No one even thought of taking his meals. At last it was evening. The whole house presented a bridal look. There were lights everywhere.

Yousaf : Sounds so awesome! What kind of dress did your cousin wear?

Hidayat : My cousin put on her bridal dress. Her friends adorned her as much as they could. She looked like a fairy in her new dress.

Yousaf : Okay, What were the guests doing?

Hidayat : The guests started pouring in. They were served with light refreshment. All now eagerly awaited the arrival of the marriage party. Soon there was heard the sound of the band at a distance. All got ready. At last the marriage party arrived. The band played a sweet tune. The members of the marriage party were garlanded.

Yousaf : wow! What about the bridegroom?

Hidayat : The bridegroom was on a white decorated mare. He was made to get off the horse just at the gate. My aunt performed the Aarti. My cousin dressed in the scarlet clothes garlanded her would-be husband. The cameras clicked .and. many photographs were taken.

Yousaf : That's great. And how was the last marriage party?

Hidayat : The marriage party was served with a grand dinner. Most of the guests present at the time of the reception took leave of my uncle and went away. After the dinner most of the members of the marriage party did not stay for the night. Only the near relations of the bridegroom stayed behind to sit through the marriage ceremony.

Yousaf : Wow, that's amazing! When was the ceremony performed ?

Hidayat : The ceremony was performed at night before the sacred fire with the chanting of the Vedic Mantras. In the morning the marriage party left for their home town with the bride. My uncle gave a rich dowry. Partings are always sad. On this occasion there were tears in the eyes of everyone. But they were all happy that everything had gone on well at the time of bidding farewell.

Yousaf : That's so wonderful story about your cousin's wedding.

Hidayat : Thank you so much.

Yousaf : You're welcome. Have a nice day.

Hidayat : Same to you too. Bye.

Yousaf : Bye my friend. See you soon.
