Q1) Who was the scribes?

Scribes were people in ancient Egypt usually men who learned to read and write. Although experts believe the most scribes were men, there is evidence of some female doctors. These women would have been trained as scribes so they could read medical texts.

Q2) In which era 3 styles of columns were introduced and also mentioned name of those columns?

Ans

- There are three main styles of columns to support their building that we still use today. Doric, Ionic and Corinthian are the three main styles.
- The ancient Greeks used the trabeated style (also known as post and lintel).
- Temples were the most important buildings built of stone, many survived.

1) THE DORIC:-

The Doric style is rather sturdy and its top (the capital) is plain. This style was used in main Greece and the colonies in southern Italy and Sicily.

2) THE IONIC:-

The Ionic style is thinner and more elegant. Its capital is decorated with a scroll-like design (a volute). This style was found in eastern Greece and the islands.
