

Date: _____

Name :- Rahatullah

ID :- 14205

Paper :- Human Growth &
Development & CBR.

Instructor :- Dr. M. Jaffar

Submit Date :- 9-10-2020.

Date: 1

Question:-

Explain types of Cerebral palsy (CP).

Answer:-

There are main four types of cerebral palsy,

Types:-

- *)) Spastic CP
- *)) Athetoid CP
- *)) Ataxic CP
- *)) Mixed CP

1) Spastics Cerebral palsy.

The most common type of cerebral palsy means of stiffness or tightness of the muscles.

The muscles are stiff due to message to the muscle are relayed incorrectly from the damage part of brain.

Date: 2

*)) Athetoid Cerebral Palsy:

It is also known as dyskinetic cerebral palsy.

It is a movement disorder caused by damage to the developing brain. It is also characterized by abnormal and involuntary movement.

The children having athetoid cerebral palsy fluctuate between hypertonia and hypotonia

*)) Ataxic Cerebral Palsy:

Ataxic cerebral palsy is the one type of cerebral palsy in which have the abnormalities in balance.

Kids with ataxic cerebral palsy have trouble with a balance.

Date: 3

They may walk with their legs farther apart than other kids.

And they can have trouble knowing exactly where something is. They might think it is closer or farther than it actually is.

» Mixed Cerebral Palsy:

It is the combination of at least two forms of cerebral palsy. Mixed cerebral palsy is caused from injuries to the brain.

The patient having Mixed CP they will have a jerky movement and abnormal reflexes.

Date: 4

Symptoms of Cerebral palsy:-

- * Variations in muscle tone.
- * Stiff muscles and spasticity
- * Lack of balance.
- * involuntary movements.
- * Abnormal walking
- * Jerky movements.

Ended