Question 1

Sir Syed Ahmad Khan

Introduction -

Sir Syed Ahmad Khan, one of the architects of modern India was born on October 17, 1817 in Delhi.

Sir Syed Ahmad Khan's father Muttagi was a Mughal noble descendent who had in the time of Akbar migrated to India from Herat.

As the founder of the greatest Muslim reformer of the 19th century. He came to the rescue of his co-religionist after the war of independence (1857).

Sir Syed Ahmad Khan Vision -

The 1857 revolt (the war of independence) was one of the turning points of Syed Ahmad's life.

Before it his career had been that of a civil servant and a scholar.

In 1847, he published the famous archaeological masterpiece "Asarus Sandeed" a book that provided a wealth of information on countless historical monuments in Delhi from the eight hundred years long Muslim era's 1855.

- ⇒ He published yet another book "Ain-e-Akbai". After the 1857 revolt, Syed Ahmad authored the marvelous book "Asbab-e-Baghawat-e-Hind" this book is related to the cause of the Indian Revolt).
- ⇒ Sir Syed Ahmad Khan was the first Muslim leader to realise that if the Muslims continued to keep themselves alone from the political, social and educational activities then they would be completely absorbed or finished by the Hindu community.

Sir Syed Ahmad Khan -Ambitions-

To the Muslim community Sir Syed Ahmad Khan was and is like the eye which weeps for the suffering of any and every part of the body.

The sufferings of the community worried him. He took an oath to reform, educate and empower the Muslim community and was successful to a great extent in implementing it.

deposites strong opposition from a section of the Muslim community which hated the British and their language.
