

CHAPTER 8:
DEVELOPING A BRAND EQUITY
MEASUREMENT AND MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

From Kevin Lane Keller

The New Accountability

- Virtually every marketing dollar spent today must be justified as both effective and efficient in terms of “return of marketing investment” (ROMI).
- Some observers believe that up to 70% (or even more) of marketing expenditures may be devoted to programs and activities that cannot be linked to short-term incremental profits, but yet can be seen as improving brand equity.

The Brand Value Chain

- Broader perspective than just the CBBE model
- The brand value chain is a structured approach to assessing the sources and outcomes of brand equity and the manner by which marketing activities create brand value.

  - It depends on factors such as market dynamics, growth potential, risk profile, and brand contribution

Brand Equity Measurement System

- A set of research procedures that is designed to provide timely, accurate, and actionable information for marketers so that they can make the best possible tactical decisions in the short run and strategic decisions in the long run

Brand Equity Measurement System

- Conducting brand audits
- Developing tracking procedures
- Designing a brand equity management system

Designing Brand Tracking Studies

- Tracking studies involve information collected from consumers on a routine basis over time
  - Often done on a “continuous” basis
  - Provide descriptive and diagnostic information

What to Track

- Customize tracking surveys to address the specific issues faced by the brand
- Product-brand tracking
- Corporate or family brand tracking
- Global tracking

How to Conduct Tracking Studies

- Who to track (target market)
- When and where to track (how frequently)
- How to interpret brand tracking

Brand Equity Management System

- A brand equity management system is a set of organizational processes designed to improve the understanding and use of the brand equity concept within a firm:
  - Brand equity charter
  - Brand equity report
  - Brand equity responsibilities

Brand Equity Charter

- Provides general guidelines to marketing managers within the company as well as key marketing partners outside the company
- Should be updated annually

Brand Equity Charter Components

- Define the firm's view of the brand equity
- Describe the scope of the key brands
- Specify actual and desired equity for the brand
- Explain how brand equity is measured
- Suggest how brand equity should be measured
- Outline how marketing programs should be devised
- Specify the proper treatment for the brand in terms of trademark usage, packaging, and communication
